

Where the Sidewalk Ends Scavenger Hunt Key

Poem

Number

Eighteen Flavors

Where the Sidewalk Ends

The Toucan

Jumping Rope

The Acrobats

Tree House

Smart

Dancing Pants

Forgotten Language

Traffic Light

Hug O'War

Location Hints

Oink! Oink! You will not find me in the barnyard. Instead, look for me in a place filled with bread, milk, watermelons, and doughnuts.

Tools, parts, and everything your car, home or farm needs can be found here.

Ka-chink! Ka-chink! Honk! Honk! I am not a bird, but my nest egg is downtown.

110 years old, with new name by design (and delicious cream puffs once a year.)

You'll find lots and lots of flowers here, but it's not a meadow, garden, or even a greenhouse.

Book on down to the best place to find movies, music, and great stories to read.

If you don't want to look like Rapunzel, come to this downtown business!

Get your body and soul in shape and this 2-in-1 place.

Important decisions about the city are made here. Hint: It's next to a park.

Stop here to fill your empty tank and maybe grab a sub.

Send off letters and packages, buy some stamps.

Check Windows!

Check Bulletin Boards!